Local Woman Receives Chiropractic Assistant of the Year Award

Chiro Advance Services, a national practice management and chiropractic consulting firm, awarded Stephanie Benesh, Chiropractic Assistant at Schulte Family Chiropractic, the Chiropractic Assistant of the Year Award. The award ceremony took place at the Chiro Advance Services January chiropractic seminar, held at the Embassy Suites Hotel, Bloomington, MN, on January 23, 2010.

Stephanie was selected from among 175 chiropractic assistants to receive the award. Determining criteria for the designation included leadership abilities, knowledge of chiropractic philosophy and processes and service to their community.

“I was thrilled that Stephanie received the award,” said Dr. Gregory Schulte, of Schulte Family Chiropractic. “Her outstanding contributions to our office and the community deserved that level of recognition.”

Stephanie began her career in chiropractic in 2008. Her current responsibilities at the office include managing back office operations, supervising the front desk support team, as well as running the front desk, assisting with new patient consultations, exams, re-exams, orthotic fittings, and educating practice members about health and wellness. “I truly believe in the power of chiropractic. I have seen many lives changed and quality of life improved- including my own families. This is what drives my passion.”

Schulte Family Chiropractic is a wellness based practice offering chiropractic services, nutritional and wellness counseling, and community wide wellness based workshops. They have been serving the Fox Valley community since 2001.
